

2024 Post-Event Report

An update on the agile conference series from Alea Global Group

About us

Alea Global Group is a family office based in Kuwait, in the Middle East. Among our various activities as a family office, we create events for and with other family offices in key regions around the world.

Through our extensive network of high profile family offices we are able to connect families from these regions together to exchange ideas and experiences. Our events also forge business relationships between family offices and service providers which generate investment opportunities and streamline activities in mutually beneficial outcomes.

Attendees at our events are high level decision-makers and family office members, and our delegates include business owners, and those at CEO, CIO or CFO level, within family offices and associated organizations.

Our events are aimed very specifically at family offices, and are so effective because they are organized by experts from a family office background.

We constantly liaise with the regional and global business community, and we monitor wider current affairs, so that we can bring our delegates the most up-to-date and useful information to help them navigate their family offices to further long-lasting success.

Our focus is not only on business, but on every aspect of running a family office, including structuring family offices, succession planning, capital investment, wealth management, personal wellbeing, lifestyle and legacy.

By creating an informal environment in which speakers and delegates can share their expertise and experiences, we also offer a unique opportunity to bring family offices together and find new ways to work with and learn from one another.

About The Alea Sessions

The Alea Sessions is a series of irregular but responsive events which we hold whenever we feel there are topics that need to be addressed and which our followers would like to talk about.

These events are usually shorter than our Family Office Summits, with a more focused programme, and with a lower cost of entry. They may occur anywhere in the world.

Since launching The Alea Sessions in 2021, we are pleased to report that each of our events in the series has been a huge success.

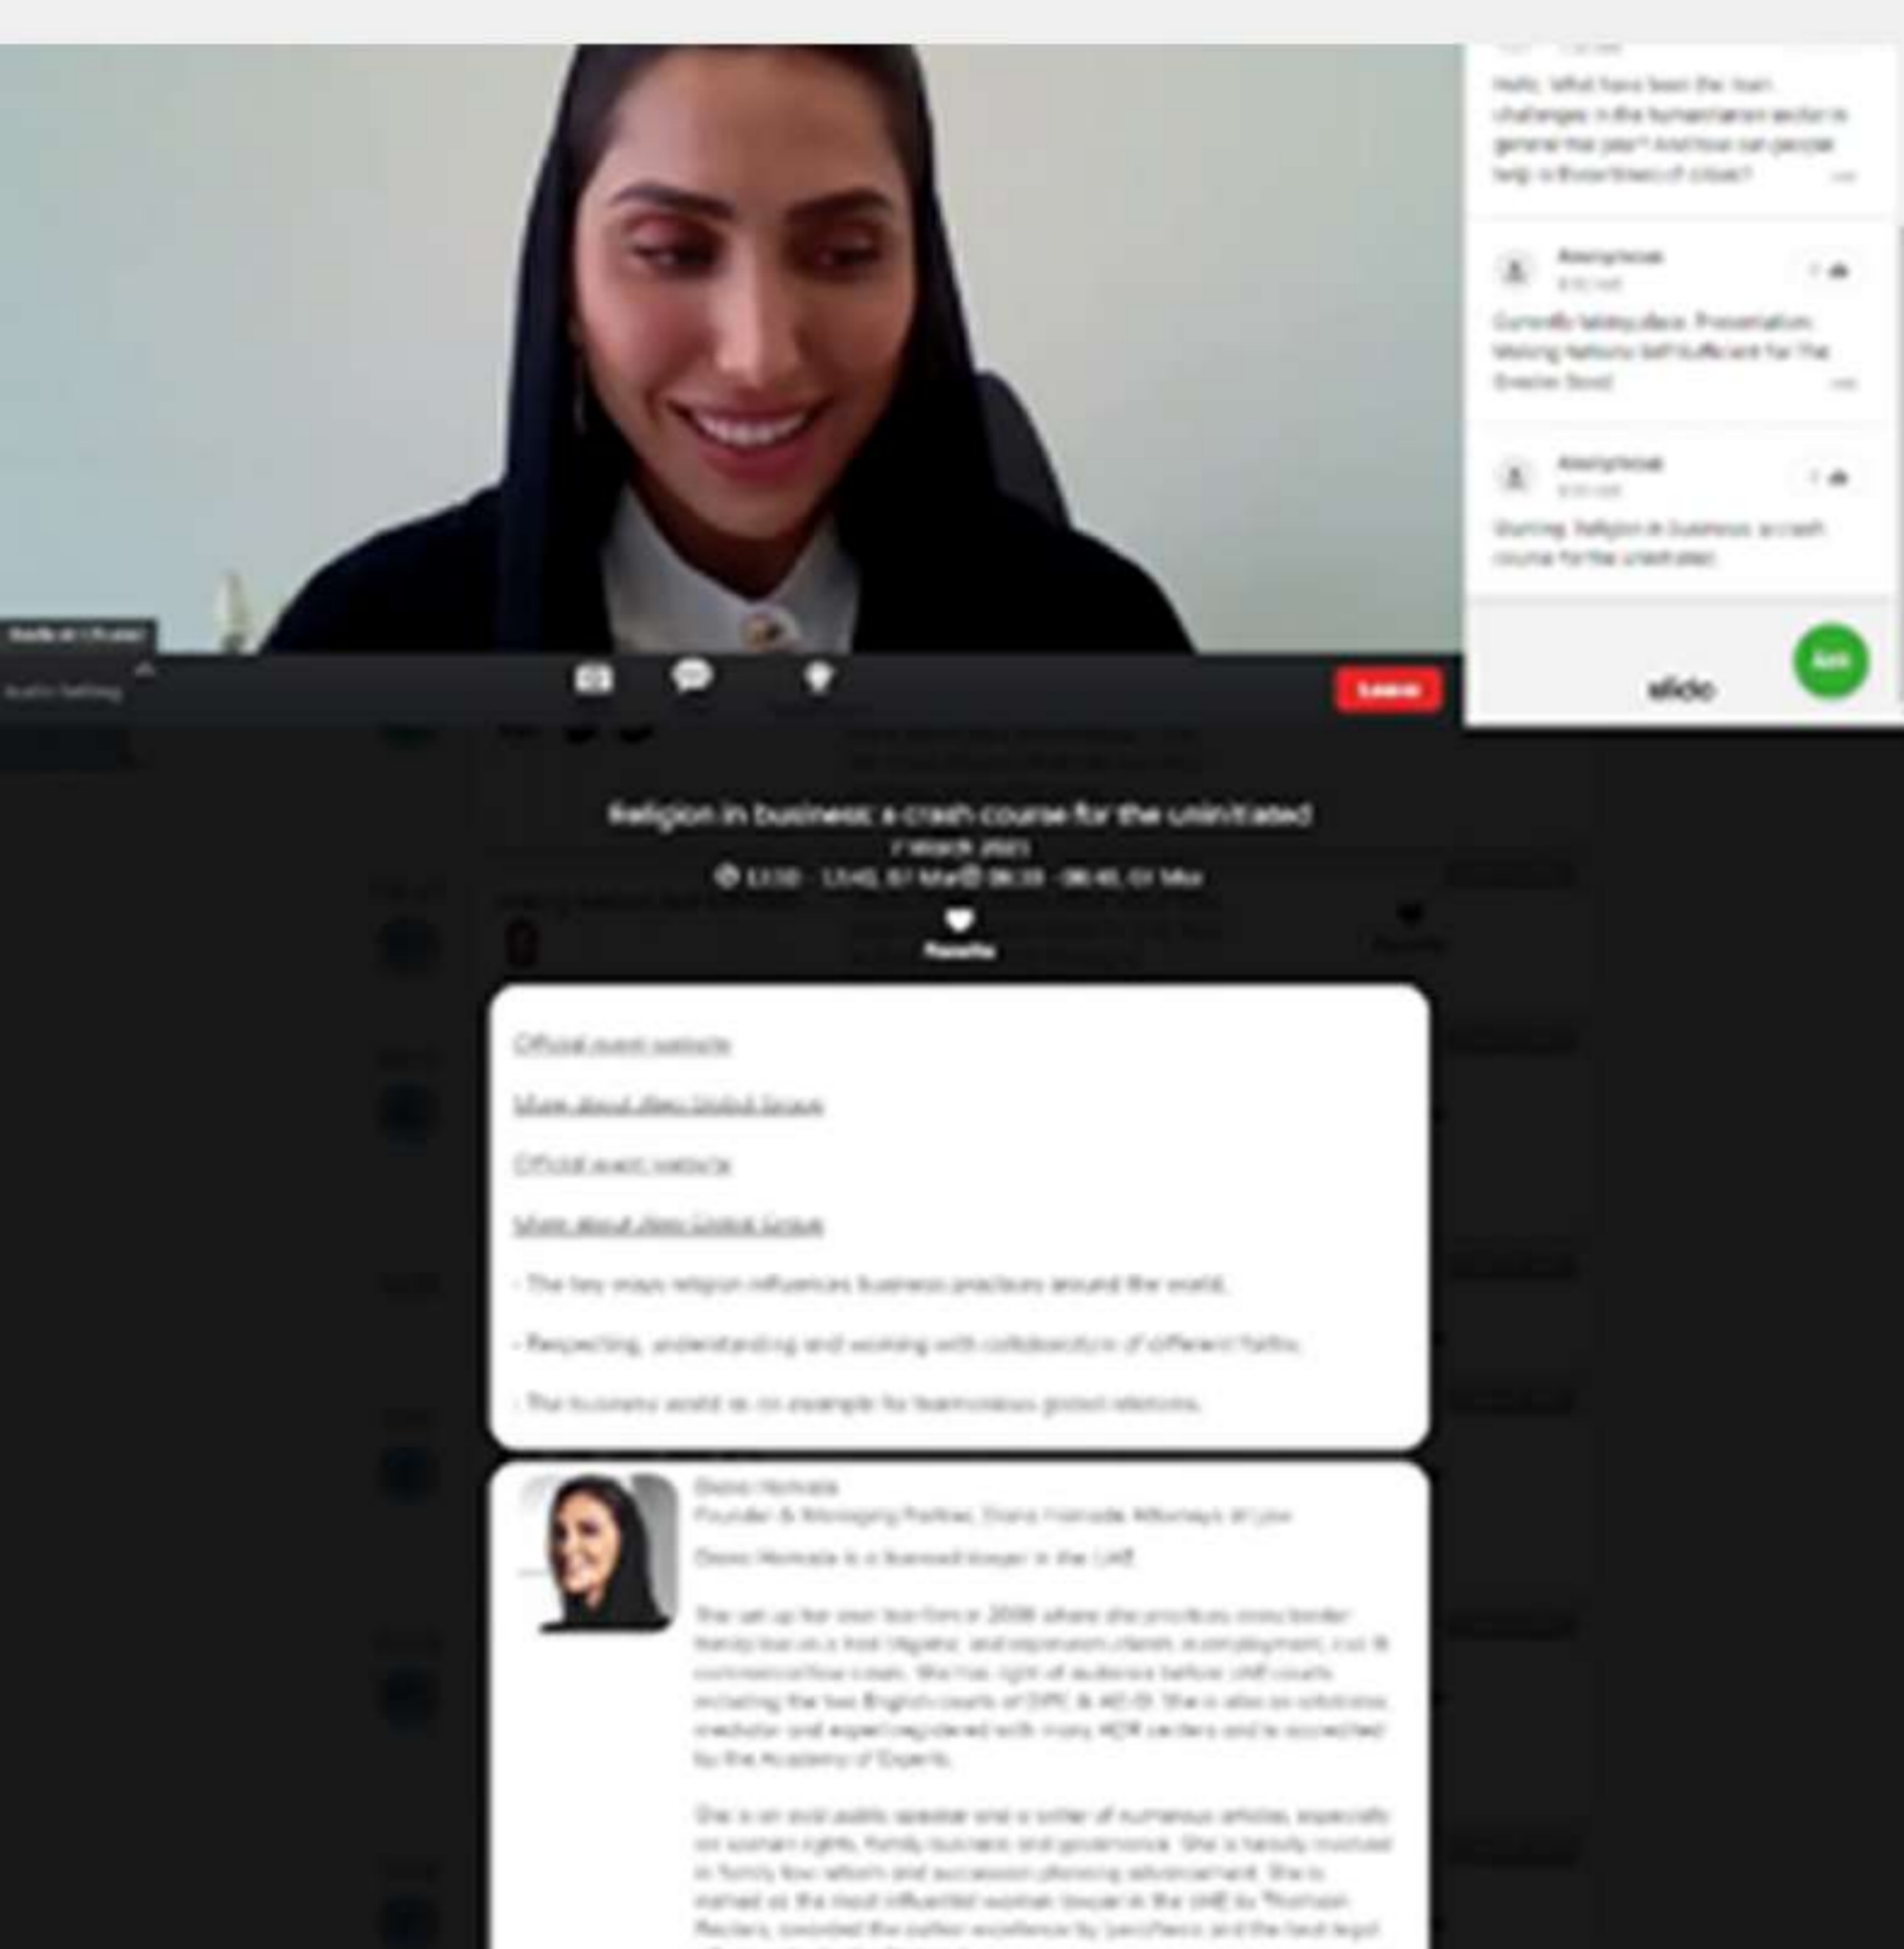

Summits held: 7
Regions: 4

The Gulf Region

Not to be deterred by travel restrictions, we held our first edition of The Alea Sessions entirely online.

We hosted two days of online panels and talks for business leaders and family offices in the Gulf, giving service providers the opportunity to meet with them in a relaxed and intimate networking environment.

As much as possible, we strove to match our delegates' favorite elements of the in-person experience, from an inspiring programme to fascinating roundtable discussions and one-on-one networking. This was followed up with an in-person event in Riyadh in 2022, with equal success.

North America

Our first in-person event of 2021 was in New York. It was a joy to host and, according to our delegates, a joy to attend too.

This celebratory gathering brought together family offices and service providers for a dynamic one-day event.

Delegates from across the US and around the world converged to forge new connections and explore innovative solutions. The atmosphere buzzed with insightful discussions, fostering a collaborative spirit amongst attendees.

We followed this up with two further events, both in Miami, in 2022 and 2024.

Europe

Our London event brought together a curated group of attendees from across the UK and Europe, fostering a relaxed and informative atmosphere.

This hybrid format, with most speakers present in person and a select few joining virtually, proved to be a success.

It not only allowed for valuable in-person interaction but also creates a valuable template for future events that may be impacted by travel disruptions.

This flexibility ensures continued engagement and knowledge sharing regardless of unforeseen circumstances.

Asia

Our first foray into Asia with the Alea Sessions kicked off in Seoul, South Korea, in 2022.

This inaugural event was designed exclusively for family offices, fostering a private and intimate environment for these key players to connect.

Unlike our typical conferences, we opted for an invite-only format to ensure a curated guest list focused solely on family offices.

This decision allowed for deeper, more focused discussions on the topics most relevant to this unique audience.
